

Fall 12-2016

Women in Politics

Virginia Soileau

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.tacoma.uw.edu/gender_studies

Part of the Gender and Sexuality Commons

Recommended Citation

Soileau, Virginia, "Women in Politics" (2016). Gender & Sexuality Studies Student Work Collection. 3.
http://digitalcommons.tacoma.uw.edu/gender_studies/3

This Undergraduate Zine is brought to you for free and open access by the School of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences at UW Tacoma Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Gender & Sexuality Studies Student Work Collection by an authorized administrator of UW Tacoma Digital Commons.

theOnyun

(a satirical zine)

Women—now told to “grab life by the pussy”—are thrilled to find the secret to success has been between their legs the whole time.

Breaking the Glass Ceiling: How to Succeed at Work Regardless of Your Vagina

10 Easy Steps for Success!

1. Stay classy!— The first step to success is in the way you walk! Nothing says class like a great pair of stockings in an even greater pair of heels! Show off those long legs with a short skirt, and make sure to always use the stairs!

2. Distract him with your beautiful...eyes!—Are you unsure how to impress in an interview? Nothing says, “You’re hired!” quite like a low cut shirt coupled with a the newest pushup bra. If you feel stumped, just undo a button!

3. Look beautiful!—Spare no expense on personal appearance. Remember, you are the face of the office, so take special care to make a great appearance for your company!

4. Great coffee!—Your boss has a rough day ahead of him, so make sure that you help him start the day off right by brewing a fresh, delicious pot of coffee!

5. Smile!—Keep those pearly whites flashing! As the receptionist/assistant/secretary for a large firm, your face is the first that an incoming client will see. Make sure you smile so he feels welcome!

6. Having a rough day!—Start with your beautiful smile, and end with a laugh! They say laughter is the best medicine and your boss wants to see you happy, so make sure you laugh at his jokes and playful flirting. Help him feel encouraged, and you’ll both be happy!

7. Is it that time of the month?—Just stay home! You’ll do everyone a favor!

8. Always be prepared!—Those glass ceilings can get quite dirty, so make sure you have your Windex at the ready!

9. Watch that attitude!—Nobody likes a nasty woman. Learn to take a compliment from men without getting fussy. Tattling in the workplace is a sure-fire way to upset your boss. He works very hard, and doesn’t have time for silly woman problems, so make sure to smile and “suck it up, Buttercup!”

10. Order vs Chaos!—Mayo, lettuce, THEN tomato! You don’t want the juice from the tomato to make the bread soggy!

We interviewed Carol Hymowitz and Timothy Schellhardt about their fantastic invention, the glass ceiling, to see what challenges they faced while working together.

O: Tim, what would you say was the greatest challenge to this project?

T: Well, Carol kept breaking the glass, so I decided it needed to be a bit sturdier. I needed a glass that could protect the tops of buildings and couldn’t be easily shattered by birds, golf balls, planes, or women. It took a lot of time, and a lot of broken glass, before I finally was able to create a form of glass that Carol couldn’t break. I think it pissed her off, but it really is for the best.

O: Carol, what do you feel was your greatest accomplishment while Tim was creating the whole project.

C: Once I quit breaking the glass with every movement, I needed to make sure the ceiling panels were clean and flawless. It took a lot of work getting all the dust and fingerprints off the glass, but now, it’s so clean you can barely tell it’s there!

