Shipwrecked Richard Scott

Salty air consumes my senses waves crash against my skull winds hammer momentum poor little drunken ship at sea. Shaken, I attempt to recover but you have left me, alone.