

COCOON

JORDAN BOWERS

---

Rearranging;
a revolutionary rebirth
of intestines intertwining, solidification out of liquification.

Pushing the cracks emerging, embracing;
decomposition in the wake.

Dust falling off wings Fluttering in the wind absorbing the aroma of the approaching unknown.

Decomposition solidifies, a creature crawls from the casing digging its talons drilling into the core dragging it back to the domain closing itself into the cage sealing the cracks of the cocoon as it crawls beneath the skin ripping the veins

vitality of life,
circulation traded for poison to decompose to dust